Market

During the year the Nordic Markets have increased their sales by 45 per cent compared to the same period 2007, of which 22 per cent was through acquisitions, 21 per cent through organic growth and approximately 2 per cent through positive currency effects. The Danish market has developed well which is mainly due to the success with wind turbine manufactures.

The UK has increased sales during the year by 32 per cent in local currencies, 26 percent through acquisitions and 6 per cent organic growth. Negative currency effects of 10 per cent have reduced the increase in Swedish currency to 22 per cent.

Other European markets have increased during the year by 13 per cent in local currencies. Positive currency effects of 6 per cent give an increase of 19 per cent in Swedish currency.

The North American markets fell by 10 per cent in local currencies. Negative currency effects of 2 per cent have reduced the increase in Swedish currency to 12 per cent for the year.

During the first nine months of the year the sales decreased, because of reduced federal funds for investments in fire stations. During the fourth quarter the sales have developed well in USA in local currency compared to the same quarter last year.

Other markets outside North America and Europe rose 27 per cent during the year in local currencies, 8 percent through acquisitions and 19 per cent through organic growth.

Incoming orders have shown a strong growth during the first three quarters but weakened somewhat during the fourth quarter and resulted in a 5 per cent reduction in local currencies compared to the last quarter 2007. The decrease has been most noticeable in the markets outside North America and Europe as well as in Great Britain. North America shows a slow but increasing upswing in incoming orders.

Acquisitions

In January 2008 Nederman acquired Töredal Verkstad AB, a Swedish production company that has been a subcontractor of high vacuum products since the 1980's. The purpose of the acquisition was to keep the capacity and competence within the group due to change of generations in the acquired company.

In March the group acquired The Arboga Darenth-group with three active companies in Sweden, Great Britain and France. Arboga products complement Nederman products in the area of work environment and recycling of metal for machining. The French company will be integrated with the French subsidiary, the British will be integrated with Nederman Ltd. The factory in UK has been closed and the production moved to the Arboga factory in Sweden. In April Nederman acquired a part of Assalub in Finspång. The acquired organisation has been integrated with Nederman's Swedish sales organisation. This was an additional step in Nederman strategy to integrate forward within the market segment automotive industry.

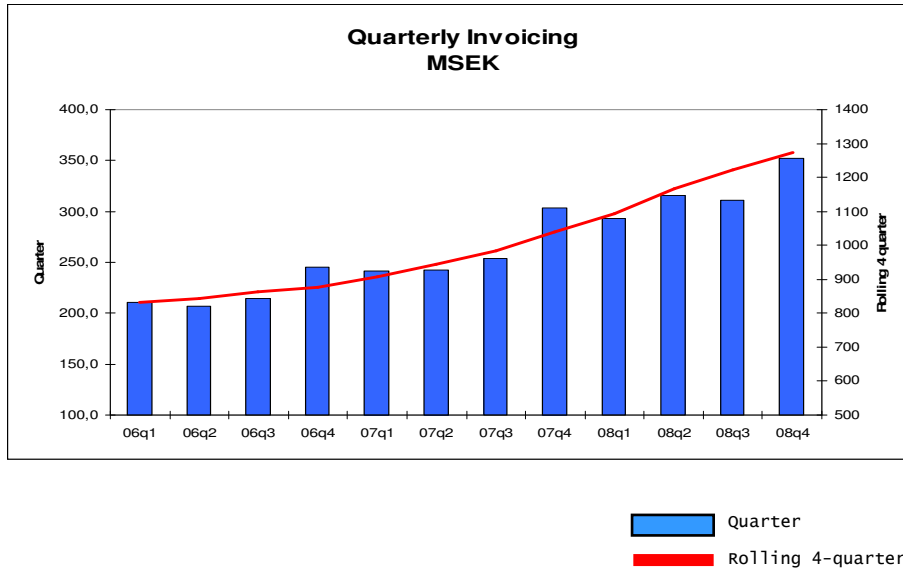

In July Nederman acquired AB Norclean in Varberg. The company has been a dealer to Nederman Norclean in Sandefjord since the 1970's. The purpose of the acquisition is an effort to coordinate the sales in the Swedish market and to take advantage of the company's special competence within certain applications.

Outlook

The economy is uncertain and the outlook is difficult to predict. The company foresees a weaker market demand during 2009. The company has prepared cost cutting plans to meet a decrease in the company's sales. These will be implemented according to the rate that the market demands.

Dividend

The board proposes a dividend of SEK 2,50 (2,50) per share.
